

April 2022

TRAVEL INSURANCE UPDATE

COVID-19 Enhancement

Coverage Extended to October 31, 2024

RWAM and our travel insurance provider, Allianz Global Assistance, are committed to providing support during this unprecedented time. We recognize that people are looking to travel for different reasons. We continue to help protect their health and safety by ensuring our Plan Members have access to coverage for emergency medical, quarantine, and other costs related to COVID-19 while abroad.

As referenced in the December 2021 communication, RWAM's Out-of-Country product now provides coverage if an insured is required to quarantine while on their trip, irrespective of vaccination status. In the event that quarantine is required and hospitalization is not needed, this superior coverage provides peace of mind and financial support when you cannot travel back home.

To make it simple for the insured, a PCR or rapid antigen test administered by a healthcare provider is acceptable as proof of positive COVID-19 diagnosis. For quick filing, the image can be uploaded to the Allianz claims portal.

If an insured tests positive with COVID-19 while on a trip and they are required to quarantine, the Out-of-Country coverage will cover reasonable and customary meals, accommodation, and transportation costs to an overall maximum of $2,500 per trip occurrence (NOT per person). This consists of the following:

- Accommodation and meals have a maximum day limit of $150 for up to 14 days
- Transportation costs may include:
 - Economy costs to get covered person home after quarantine
 - Economy costs to get 1 travelling companion home if their plans had changed due to quarantine.

This enhancement has been extended and will be in place until October 31, 2024.